Tokio British Minister Will Visit Shanghai Before Returning

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, August 18.—Funeral services for Miss Ida May, daughter of the Pennsylvania Congressman, William Scott Ware, were held at the home of United States Minister Crane this evening. Miss Ware passed away at sunrise this morning at the Peking Hotel as a result of acute tonsillitis.

The younger sister of the deceased is also ill with the same disease, both having contracted it at Tientsin, Shantung.

Congressman Ware, accompanied by Congressman Porter will take the body of the deceased and return to the United States directly. He will pick up Mrs. Ware and their youngest daughter in Honolulu, where they are now waiting.

SUNDAY IN PEITAIHO
The remainder of the party will spend Sunday in Peitaiho and leave for Mukden on the same night.

The Japanese legation has warned the party against going to Korea on account of political objections but on the ground that cholera is said to be raging in the hermit kingdom.

The Congressional party has called off all official entertainments as a result of the sad bereavement.

The party sails from Yokohama on the Transpacific Madawaka on September 10.

Sir Charles Elliot, the British Minister to Japan, is now on his way to Tientsin and Tsingtao to make observations there. He will proceed to Shanghai later and then return to Japan.

TO DISBAND TROOPS

The new cabinet has decided on the program for the disbandment of troops. The force formerly under Little Hau and Marshal Tuan will be reduced to the size of one mixed brigade, half of which will remain in Urga. The division under General Ma Liang of Shantung will be reduced by fifty percent.

Additional steps will be taken to reduce the forces in the provinces by 20 percent.

Shantung residents in Peking are holding several functions in honor of their new Governor, Mr. Chi.

SOLDIERS DISPERSED

(Reuters' Pacific Service)
Peking, August 18.—The progress of the disbandment is shown by the following statement from official forces:

The 1st and 3rd Frontier Divisions have been completely disbanded while the Government has ordered the disbandment of the 15th Division, which has already been partly carried out; 50 percent of the 2nd Frontier Division under General Ma Liang; three of the five Frontier Mixed Brigades and the two Divisions and four Mixed Brigades, formerly under General Wu Kuang-hsin in Hunan.

These constitute the first period of disbandment after which a second period will be inaugurated, which requires each province to disband 20 percent of its troops. This is practically giving effect to the program which Chin Yun-ping advocated prior to the Anfuite rising.

PROSECUTE ANFUITES

Peking, August 18.—A mandate will shortly be issued, ordering changes in the personnel of the offices of Procurator-General, High Procurator and local Procurator in Peking and instructing the new holders of these posts to draw up indictments against the Anfuites, at present sheltering in the Japanese Legation, with a view to a demand for their surrender.

PAUL S. REINSCH IN MEMORANDUM ON NECESSITY OF FIRM CABINET

Japan Trying To Force On New Ministry Obnoxious Military Compact

(Staff Wire To The China Press)
Peking, August 19.—Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, in the capacity of constitutional advisor to the President of China, has filed a memorandum, pointing out the necessity of having a cabinet which is representative of all Chinese institutions.

Dr. Reinsch will return to America direct on the Empress of Russia, which is due in Vancouver on September 15.

Mr. Chow Tse-chi, the new minister of finance, will represent China at the Consortium conference to be held in Washington on September 11.

BANKER CALLED ON

Mr. Hsu En-yuen, the governor of the Bank of China, may attend the conference also as representative of the Chinese financial interests.

The new government in Peking is absolutely dependent on the Consortium for its financial support, so great importance is attached to the outcome of the Washington conference.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has advised the Chinese authorities in Urga to allow the Soviet representatives now on their way to Peking safe conduct.

Dr. W. W. Yen, the new minister of foreign affairs, today made his formal calls on the legations for the first time since he assumed office.

JAPANESE ACTIVE

It is reported that Japan is endeavoring to force the continuance of the military pact on the new government.

The Japanese Legation has been informed that on August 13, a Korean was arrested in Shing-lu for having in his possession 50 copies of a petition printed in English and in Korean together with a letter which the Shanghai Koreans intended to present to the United States Congressional Party upon its arrival in Seoul.

On August 14 a representative of the Korean Provisional Government was arrested in Pheungyang, it is stated.

Five other Koreans have been suspected of being connected with the correspondence sent from Shanghai and arrested. Hundred copies of the letter were seized on the 18th and confiscated.

The Japanese authorities have received rumors that the Korean National Christian Association is planning to hold demonstrations and throw bombs in anticipation of the arrival of the United States Congressional party.

The object is to involve Japan in international complications.

The Japanese authorities in Seoul are doubling the railway guards in order to "protect the party."

JAPANESE REFUSE TO RECALL ARMY FROM CHINA SOIL

(Reuters' Pacific Service)
Peking, August 19.—The Japanese Legation is forwarding its reply to the Chinese government's note of August 7, which demanded the early withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The reply states that the Japanese troops are being kept there in accordance with the agreement, reached by the Allied representatives at Vladivostok, and that Japan cannot withdraw these troops without exposing her forces in the Russian maritime province to attack by the Bolsheviks.

Japan, however, the note continues, has no intention of indulging in territorial aggression by maintaining troops permanently along the railway.

Vladivostok, August 18.—Following on the attempt to establish an independent reactionary government at Habarovsk, the representative there of the Vladivostok Government ordered the Chief of the Militia to enter the city with his reserves, seize the Government buildings and disarm the Municipal militia.

The Japanese intervened, stating that they would not permit the militia reserves to enter the city, and placed Japanese guards at the entrances.

The Vladivostok representative was compelled to countermand the order after which the Japanese withdrew their guards.

After negotiations between the Vladivostok authorities and the Japanese here, the latter telegraphed to the Japanese Commander at Habarovsk, ordering him to permit the militia to enter the city. It is expected that the incident will soon be settled.

ADDITIONAL TAX ON SALT PLACED BY CHINLI TUCHUN

(Reuters' Pacific Service)
Peking, August 19.—Considerable dissatisfaction has been caused at Tientsin by General Tiao Kun's imposing an additional salt tax on wholesale merchants.

They will receive salt as before but will pay an additional tax which will involve an increase in retail prices, inflicting hardship on the poor, reducing the amount consumed and thereby reducing the revenue of the Gabelle.

The reorganization of the loan agreement provides that no provincial official shall be allowed to impose local salt taxes and in February the President issued a mandate, emphasizing this fact and warning provincial officials against such action.

General Tiao Kun justifies his action on the grounds that it is imperative to raise funds.

An important feature of the case is the fact that General Tiao Kun's action reveals the instability of Chinese securities and therefore damages China's credit.

London, August 17.—A Royal Proclamation announces: "His Majesty's hope to send the Prince of Wales to India next winter cannot, unhappily, be realized, because the unceasing and devoted labor of the Prince of Wales in other parts of the Empire have laid so heavy a burden upon his strength that it is impossible for him at present to undertake another protracted and arduous journey, without assuredly endangering his health."

"The visit, consequently, must be postponed, but if he has recovered, it is hoped that the Prince of Wales will visit India in the winter of next year."

"Meanwhile in order to mark in a special manner the momentous step which India is now taking towards greater constitutional freedom, His Majesty is sending the Duke of Connaught to inaugurate the reformed Indian Legislature and take part in the other ceremonies which the Prince of Wales would have performed."

Mixed Court Decides To Take Jurisdiction Over Alleged Slayer Of Girl

Yen Jui-sung Breaks Down In Prisoners' Dock At Initial Trial For Murdering Beautiful Sing-song Girl; Hearing Resumes Today

Broken down and in an exhausted state, Yen Jui-sung, alleged slayer of Lien Ying, the beautiful Shanghai sing-song entertainer, and Ng Tsung-tong, a shop assistant, were charged with being concerned in the murder of the unfortunate girl yesterday morning in the Mixed Court.

The Court held that there was sufficient evidence to show that the crime was committed in the Settlement and assumed jurisdiction.

The scene in Court was dramatic. Long before 10 o'clock when the case was called, huge crowds of Chinese thronged the premises. Extra foreign, Sikh and Chinese police was placed on duty. A large number of spectators were driven out of Court.

As the handcuffed men were escorted to the prisoners' dock of the No. 4 Court, the crowded Court looked on while many thrust their heads between the windows to take a glance at the alleged murderer.

PRISONER COLLAPSES
Yen was weak, bare-footed and dressed in his usual blue suit. As soon as he stepped into the dock, he collapsed, hanging himself helplessly over the dock for the rest of the morning.

The first prisoner was represented by Mr. Lawrence K. Kentwell and Dr. H. C. McI. Mr. Sterling Fessenden and Mr. Ponson Chu appeared for the deceased's mother, Mr. R. C. Faithfull, Police Advocate, prosecuted for the Police, while Mr. A. Kriel watched the interests of Mr. Chu Tse-chai, son of Chu Pao-an, retiring chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce.

Zung Zai-fing, the chauffeur of the son of Chu Pao-an, from whom the first prisoner borrowed an automobile, Detective Sergeant Quayle and Mr. Chu's son were the important witnesses yesterday. Hearing will be resumed today at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. J. O. Fischer was appointed by Mr. Hsu Yuan, the Special Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, to watch the case on behalf of the Chinese Government. But owing to another important engagement, Dr. Fischer was not able to be present.

PROSECUTION OPENS
Mr. Faithfull said the two men appeared on a charge of having committed one of the most awful murders in the annals of crime in Shanghai. The No. 1 prisoner was acquainted with a sing-song girl, and he had persuaded her to lend him a ring, on which he got $600. It was worth $1,200. He was pressed to return it, and as he could not, he entered into conversation with two men one of them being still missing and ultimately persuaded them to join him in this conspiracy and murder.

GERMANS ADVISE CARE WHEN REPORTS OF POLES' GAINS COME FROM FRONT

Counter-Attacks Put Bolsheviks On Run In First Lines Of Defense While Experts Assert That Morale Of Defending Forces Is High Standard

(Reuters' Service)
Paris, August 18.—It is stated that there has been a noticeable improvement in the situation of the Polish armies, particularly at the three following points:

In the north in the Thorn district where two counter-attacks were launched against the Bolsheviks; before Warsaw, where the first lines of defense have been regained by a successful counter offensive and, finally, in the South where the Red troops are retreating before Polish counter-attacks.

The French press states that the Polish Premier, M. Daczynski, and the Ministers, MM. Skulski and Grabski, have paid an official visit to various sectors of the front and report that the morale of the troops is excellent. The armored train, in which M. Skulski was traveling, was shelled by the enemy.

The Polish peace delegation arrived at Minsk on Sunday evening. The war correspondents, who have been authorized to follow the negotiations, will leave for Minsk today. The French press emphasizes that a Polish success now would probably change the whole character of the negotiations.

The German press is already reflecting the favorable turn in the situation of Polish arms; the Lokal Anzeiger, for example, gives the prudent advice "Our attitude towards Russia must be coldly correct."

Text Of U.S. Note To Italy About Poland

The following is the full text of the American note delivered to the Italian Embassy at Washington by the State Department on August 11:

"Excellency,
The agreeable intimation which you have conveyed to the State Department that the Italian government would welcome a statement of the views of this government on the situation presented by the Russian advance into Poland deserves prompt response and I will attempt without delay a definition of this Government's position not only as to the situation arising from Russian military pressure upon Poland but also as to certain cognate and inseparable phases of the Russian question viewed more broadly."

MUST BE FREE STATE
This government believes in a united free and autonomous Polish State and the people of the United States are earnestly solicitous for the maintenance of Poland's political independence and territorial integrity. This attitude we will not depart from and the policy of this government will be directed to the employment of all available means to render it effectual.

The government therefore takes no exception to the efforts apparently being made in some quarters to arrange an armistice between Poland and Russia; but would not, at least for the present participate in any plan for the armistice negotiations into a general European conference which would in all probability involve two results, from both of which this country strongly recoils, viz. the recognition of the Bolshevik regime and a settlement of Russian problems almost inevitably upon the basis of a dismemberment of Russia.

POPULAR GOVERNMENT
From the beginning of the Russian revolution in March, 1917, to the present moment the Government and the people of the United States have been following its development with

WARSAW SAVED FOR TIME

Paris, August 17.—According to a telegram from Warsaw, Allied officers in Poland confirm the view that the immediate danger of the fall of Warsaw is over.

The Reds are running back in confusion before General Pilsudski's counter-offensive, while a Polish communique claims that the Polish troops are advancing along the entire northern front.

A feature of the fighting is the struggle for possession of the town of Radymyn, north of Warsaw, which has changed hands repeatedly. The Poles recaptured it on Monday afternoon.

London, August 17.—The Inter-Allied Mission at Posen telegraphed yesterday: "The first Polish line of defense has been restored and the Bolsheviks on the South Eastern front are retreating rapidly in face of the Polish counter-offensive."

FIGHTING IN CRIMEA

Constantinople, August 16.—Heavy fighting is proceeding in the Crimea. The Bolsheviks, who are receiving reinforcements from the Polish front, are attacking vigorously, supported by massed aeroplane bombings. General Wrangel is holding his own. His raiding parties crossed the Don and occupied Konstantinovskaya cutting the Tauritan-Ekaterinodar railway and threatening to isolate the Kuban Cosacks. French warships in the Black Sea may not improbably lend a hand to General Wrangel.

STATEMENTS MADE

Both of the prisoners had made statements to the Police, these had been written out and signed by the two men. They would be handed up to the Court. Mr. Kentwell interrupted and referred to the fact that statements had been extracted from the men.

The Assessor said the chief thing was whether such statements were made voluntarily or not.

Mr. Kentwell added that in view of the fact these statements had been made it was most difficult in a case of this great magnitude to defend the man.

Mr. Blackburn thought it was of no greater magnitude than many another case.

Mr. Faithfull, later on, remarked that the incriminating statements made were made voluntarily and they were told any statements would be produced and used against them. The deceased was found of jewelry, carried it on her person, had between $4,000 and $5,000 worth and the first prisoner knew this.

QUAYLE TESTIFIES

Detective Sgt. Quayle said that he received information with regard to this affair on June 19, and in consequence a warrant was issued for the arrest of the first accused. The body was found by the Chinese police on the 15th and removed, and he visited the field on the 16th.

It had been removed?—Yes, the Chinese police had removed the body. The only thing left there was the hair.

Do you mean the hair of the girl?—Yes.

The scalp and all had come off?—Yes, it had become detached. It was lying there on the ground. The body had been there for six days of hot weather.

Witness proceeded to say that the only other thing he found was a small gold pin an ornament a woman would wear in her hair. These had been recognised by the father of the deceased. In consequence of information he arrested the second man, and there was a third still wanted. The hair was found in stable, about a quarter of a mile from Warren Road. A silk cord which was used to tie up the hair was there and had been recognised. Witness had the hair and cord in Court. The body had gone and the only thing that remained was the hair. He had gone along to see the body, but the Chinese authorities had suggested he could not see it as it was too far decomposed.

CHAUFFEUR'S EVIDENCE

The chauffeur of the son of Mr. Chu Pao-san was then called. He did not know if the first prisoner was a friend of his master's. He had only seen him two or three times and had nodded to him. One afternoon in June he came to witness and said that his master had loaned him his car, and he did not consent until the prisoner showed him his master's driving license. Then he consented. The car was driven from Poochow to Burkill Road, the first prisoner being the only man in the car. Afterwards they went to the Y.P.S. hotel and there the prisoner gave witness a dollar and five cunsh tickets and told him that as he was dirty he had better go and have a shave and a wash. He went and on returning saw the prisoner cranking up the car. They drove to Tulan Road, and after detailing the facts there witness said he was told to meet the prisoner at the Y.P.S. at 7.

He did not arrive until 9 p.m. Accused had damaged the car by hitting a tree with the mudguard, but he promised to pay all later on and at 4 a.m. he saw the man near the Eastern Hotel. He had two girls with him and he handed over $30. The driver's certificate was not returned. The next day he saw the accused at his master's office. He had a woman with him. His master was informed and then he came down and told the prisoner about damaging the car, adding that people were accusing the prisoner for abducting the deceased. The prisoner said he was not such a rascal and so he was invited to come along and investigate, so as to get at the truth, they went off in the car, the master driving, the girl sitting in the middle between the master and the first prisoner, the chauffeur being on at the rear of the car. They went down Szechuen Road and Hankow Road west. Then prisoner jumped off the car, saying he wanted to telephone.

He and his master got out of the car, so did the girl. His master said that he was suspicious; what did this man want to telephone for? The prisoner ran and disappeared in the building belonging to the firm of Marthoud and Co., 6, Hankow Road. The girl stood on the pavement and swore at the disappearing man; she was calling him bad names. Witness's master went upstairs to find him but there was no trace. He had disappeared.

ed. Witness had not seen him since that day until in Court.

CHU IN THE BOX

The son of the Chu Pao-san was next called. He was a clerk in a shipping office in Poochow Road. He had known the first prisoner for seven or eight years, and they studied together at the Aurora University. They were friends for about two years, and this acquaintance was renewed this year. He saw him at his father's office on June 7, and the following they went to the house of the deceased. She was not there. He came on the 8th and wanted to borrow his car. At last he agreed. The next day, when he met the first prisoner he told him that people were saying he had abducted Lien Ying. This he denied. Witness then detailed the facts as set out by the chauffeur, when all four went along in the car and the prisoner got off saying he wanted to telephone. Then he ran away and was lost sight of. Witness went along to the relatives of Lien Ying and told them the truth as to the man's disappearance.

Shanghai-Hankow Air Route Planned

Macao Aviator Who Flew From Hongkong Here Behind New Project

Definite plans are afoot to establish a flying service between Shanghai and Hankow, according to purposes announced by Capt. C. E. W. Ricou, the French aviator and promoter of aviation in the Far East, who has just successfully completed a flight from Macao to Shanghai. Captain Ricou is making arrangements to make a flight from here to Hankow as a preliminary survey of the route and he intends to send to Shanghai a fleet of planes with which to establish the new service.

According to present plans four stations are to be established between Shanghai and Hankow and one of these will be at Nanking. The intention of the promoter is to despatch a machine daily between the two cities.

Captain Ricou is returning by steamer Saturday to Macao where he is managing director of the Macao Electric Lighting Company. His flight to Hankow will be made on his return here.

Rates For Pullman In U.S. Also Raised

Not only are railway passenger rates in the United States to be increased, but the increase will also be extended to Pullman sleepers, according to a cable message received yesterday at the Shanghai office of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services.

Railway passenger rates have been lifted 20 percent to all points in the United States and the increase of Pullman rates amounts to a full fifty percent. These increases are effective August 26 and precede increases of ocean passenger rates, hitherto announced, of 20 percent that are to go into effect on September 5.

MacKay Returns To Assume New Post

Mr. R. C. MacKay, former executive consul at the American consulate, who won a host of friends while he was in the American consular service here and at Hankow, came back to Shanghai yesterday on the steamer Ecuador after an absence of four months, and will leave shortly to assume a position he has accepted in Hankow with Messrs. material from Marseilles to Rumanian ports.

London, August 17.—Mr. Lloyd George, replying to M. Kamenetz's letter asking for information regarding Great Britain's attitude towards General Wrangel, stated that after the withdrawal of General Denikin, the government had only been concerned to ensure the security of the troops and refugees under General Wrangel and to put them in a position to defend themselves in the Crimea until a guarantee of safety had been accorded to them.

DO NOT ADVISE OFFENSIVE

The government had no intention of encouraging Wrangel to take the offensive and as soon as it had heard of such a possibility it had warned General Wrangel against such a course, intimating that Great Britain would not incur any responsibility in connection with it and would immediately withdraw the British Military Mission. When General Wrangel opened his offensive, the Government did this.

Mr. Lloyd George further pointed out that M. Kamenetz's account of the British proposal of July 11 was inaccurate. The British Government did not reply to Tchicherin's telegram of June 11 because active negotiations were then proceeding with M. Krasin, Great Britain had suggested that an armistice should be signed with General Wrangel conditional on General Wrangel's forces retiring to the Crimea and that General Wrangel should be invited to London to discuss the future of his troops and the refugees he was defending, but not as a member of the Conference.

TO END HOSTILITIES

The object of the proposal was to end the hostilities in Eastern Europe and to emphasize Great Britain's anxiety, as part of its general proposal for a peace conference, to secure the personal safety of the troops and refugees in the Crimea, but there was no intention to detach the Crimea from Russia or to assure its possession for General Wrangel.

"The Government," added Mr. Lloyd George, "entirely adheres to this attitude. It has no intention of recognizing General Wrangel or of assisting him and it is only in the event of the Soviet proposing terms to Poland which infringe the independence of Poland that Great Britain would feel bound to reconsider this attitude."

No Danger Of Rate War, View In Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 19.—The Secretary of the Trans-Pacific Freight Tariff Bureau has issued a statement, contradicting the reports, published in the local press regarding the controversy over Pacific freight rates, which, he says, are entirely inaccurate. The statement adds:

"A meeting was held recently to discuss Trans-Pacific rates only and did not touch upon rates to other ports, touched by ships from Japan. The meeting was not a failure because the tariff was adopted by a practically unanimous vote. There is no danger of a rate war unless it is initiated by the American Shipping board."

Tokio, August 19.—The death is announced of Vice-Admiral Kamimura Otsuke, the commander of the 3rd Squadron in the Mediterranean operations during the war.

Wedding

O'BRIEN-TRAINOR

Miss Mae Trainor of New York City and Mr. William Patrick O'Brien, of San Francisco and a member of the mechanical department of Anderson and Meyer, were married at the American Consulate on August 17. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Fitch, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and was witnessed by Mr. J. T. Wright, American vice-consul.

Mr. O'Brien is widely known in Shanghai and has a wide circle of friends in the Far East. He was here in 1913 and 1914 and, after spending the intervening years in South America, returned to the Settlement last May.

The bride expected to come here on September 15 but suddenly changed her plans and came on at the earlier date. Receiving a cablegram from Nagasaki saying that Miss Trainor was on her way here on the Nile, Mr. O'Brien hurried the arrangements for the wedding.

and had no time in which to notify his friends of the wedding date or to arrange for a formal ceremony.

Mr. O'Brien and his charming bride have taken residence at the Quinsan Road.

An interesting phase of the incident is that Mr. P. Sheltman, who served as groomsmen, is recently sent for his intended bride who is to join him soon in Shanghai from her home in Wisconsin. Mr. Sheltman is also in the mechanical department of Anderson and Meyer.

Mr. Ernest Fuchs, of the same firm, gave away the bride. Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at The Trocadero.

With the desire of the Allied powers to bring about the perfect solution of the existing difficulties in Europe this government is of course in hearty accord and will support any justifiable steps to that end.

It is unable to perceive how ever that a recognition of the Soviet regime would promote much to accomplish this object and it is therefore adverse to any dealing with the Soviet regime beyond the most narrow boundaries to which a discussion of an armistice can be confined.

That the present rulers of Russia do not rule by the will or the consent of any considerable proportion of the Russian people is an incontestable fact although nearly two and a half years have passed since they seized the machinery of government promising to protect the constituent assembly against alleged conspiracy against it. They have not yet permitted anything in the nature of a popular election. The moment when the work of creating a popular representative government based upon universal suffrage was nearing completion the Bolsheviks, although in number an inconsiderable minority of the people, by force and cunning seized the powers and machinery of government and have continued to use them with the utmost oppression to maintain themselves in power.

HOPE IS HELD

Without any desire to interfere in the internal affairs of the Russian people, or to suggest what kind of government they should have, the government of the United States does express the hope that they will soon find a way to set up a government representing their free will and purpose. When that time comes the United States will consider the measures of practical assistance which can be taken to promote the restoration of Russia provided Russia has not taken itself wholly out of the friendly interest of other nations by the pillage and oppression of the Poles.

It is not possible for the government of the United States to recognize the present rulers of Russia as a government with which relations common to friendly governments can be maintained. But this conviction has nothing to do with any particular politics of social structure which the Russian people themselves may deem fit to embrace. It rests upon a wholly different set of facts. These facts which none dispute have convinced the government of the United States against its will that the existing regime in Russia is based upon the negation of every principle of honor and good faith and every usage and convention underlying the whole structure of international law; the negation of short of every principle upon which it is possible to have harmonious and trustful relations whether of nations or of individuals.

The responsible leaders of the regime have frequently and openly boasted that they are willing to sign agreements and undertakings with foreign powers while not having the slightest intention of observing such undertakings or carrying out such agreements. This attitude of disregard of obligations voluntarily entered into by them has been the theory that no contract or agreement made with a non-Bolshevik government can have any moral force for them. They have not only avowed this as a doctrine but have exemplified it in practice.

PROPAGANDA IS USED

Indeed upon numerous occasions the responsible spokesmen of this regime have frequently and openly boasted that they are willing to sign agreements and undertakings with foreign powers while not having the slightest intention of observing such undertakings or carrying out such agreements. This attitude of disregard of obligations voluntarily entered into by them has been the theory that no contract or agreement made with a non-Bolshevik government can have any moral force for them. They have not only avowed this as a doctrine but have exemplified it in practice.

AS TO LITHUANIA

The Government of the United States was so guided in its reply to the Lithuanian National Council on October 15, 1919, and in its persistent refusal to recognize the Baltic States as separate nations independent of Russia. The same spirit was manifested in the note of this Government of March 24, 1920, in which it was stated with reference to certain proposed settlements in the Near East that no final decision should or can be made without the consent of Russia.

In line with these important declarations of policy the United States withheld its approval from the decision of the Supreme Council at Paris recognizing the independence of the so-called Republics of Georgia and Azerbaijan and so instructed its representative in Southern Russia, Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully.

Finally while gladly giving recognition to the independence of Armenia the government of the United States has taken the position that the final determination of its boundaries must not be made without Russia's co-operation and agreement.

Not only is Russia concerned because a considerable part of the territory of the new State of Armenia, when it shall be defined, formerly belonged to the Russian Empire; equally important is the fact that Armenia must have the good will and the protective friendship of Russia if it is to remain independent and free.

These illustrations show with what consistency the Government of the United States has been guided in its foreign policy by loyal friendship for Russia.

We are unwilling that while it is helpless in the grip of a non-representative government whose only sanction is brutal force, Russia shall be weakened still further by a policy of dismemberment insistent with Russian interests.

With the desire of the Allied powers to bring about the perfect solution of the existing difficulties in Europe this government is of course in hearty accord and will support any justifiable steps to that end.

It is unable to perceive how ever that a recognition of the Soviet regime would promote much to accomplish this object and it is therefore adverse to any dealing with the Soviet regime beyond the most narrow boundaries to which a discussion of an armistice can be confined.

Humble Home In Which G. O. P. Nominee Was Born

Senator Warren G. Harding, the Republican nominee for President, was born near Bloomingburg, Ohio, in the humble house pictured above. It is said to have originally been a log cabin, but has been partly remodeled.

Bloomingburg is about forty miles from Marion, Senator Harding's present home. The citizens of Marion immediately after Harding's nomination started a movement to "restore" the log cabin.

power and its official agencies have declared that it is their understanding that the very existence of Bolshevism in Russia, the maintenance of their own rule, depends and must continue to depend upon the occurrence of revolution in all other great civilized nations, including the United States which will overthrow and destroy their government and set up Bolsheviki rule in their stead.

They have made it quite plain that they intend to use every means, including of course diplomatic agencies, to promote such revolutionary movements in other countries. It is true that they have in various ways expressed their willingness to give assurances and guarantees that they will not abuse the privileges and immunities of diplomatic agencies by using them for this purpose.

In view of their own declarations already referred to such assurances and guarantees cannot be very seriously regarded. Moreover it is within the knowledge of the government of the United States that the Bolshevik government is itself subject to the control of a political faction with extensive international ramifications through the third internationale and that this body which is heavily subsidised by the Bolshevik government from the public revenue of Russia has for its openly avowed aim the promotion of Bolshevism and revolution throughout the world. The leaders of the Bolsheviks have boasted that their promises of non-interference with other nations would in no wise bind the agency of this body. There is no room for reasonable doubt that such agents would receive the support and protection of any diplomatic agencies the Bolshevik might have in other countries. Inevitably therefore the diplomatic service of the Bolshevik government would be an exchange for intrigue and the preparation of revolt against the institutions and laws of countries with which it was at peace; which would be an abuse of friendship to which enlightened governments cannot subject themselves.

POLICIES MUST AGREE

In the view of this government there cannot be any common ground upon which it can stand with a power whose conceptions of the international relations are entirely alien to its own; so utterly repugnant to its moral sense there can be no mutual confidence or trust or respect even if pledges are to be given and instruments made with a cynical repudiation of their obligations already in the mind of one of the parties.

We cannot recognize or hold official relations with or give friendly reception to the agents of a government which is determined and bound to conspire against our institutions; whose diplomats will be the organizers of dangerous revolt; whose spokesmen say that they sign agreements with no intention of keeping them.

RESPECT BOUNDARIES

To summarise the position of this Government I would say, therefore, in response to Your Excellency's inquiry that it would regard with satisfaction a declaration by the Allied and Associated Powers that the territorial integrity and true boundaries of Russia shall be respected.

These boundaries should properly include the whole of the former Russian Empire with the exception of Finland proper, ethnic Poland, and such territory as may by agreement form a part of the Armenian State.

The aspirations of these nations for independence are legitimate which were forcibly annexed and their liberation from oppressive alien rule involved no aggression against Russian territory and has received the sanction of the public opinion of all free peoples.

Such a declaration presupposes the withdrawal from such territory embraced by these boundaries and in the opinion of this Government should be accompanied by the announcement that no transgression by Poland, Finland, or any other power, of the line so drawn and proclaimed, will be permitted.

Thus only can the Bolshevik regime be deprived of its false but effective appeal to Russian nationalism and compelled to meet the inevitable challenge of reason and self-respect which the Russian people, secure from invasion and territorial violation, are sure to address to a social philosophy that degrades them, and a tyranny that oppresses them.

The policy herein outlined will command the support of this Government.

my own day which is calculated to shake the Government and excite popular fear, I take heart by recalling the many upheavals through which the country has triumphantly passed and the storms she has weathered from the framing of the Constitution to the present hours. History abounds in events and incidents illustrative of this truth.

"George Washington, the first President, entertained a serious dread during his Administration that in a distant day an independent Republic would be established in the vast unexplored territory west of the Alleghenies.

"Thomas Jefferson was convinced that New England would secede from the Union because of want of confidence in a Democratic government as administered in his time.

"Chief Justice Marshall, in his declining year, despaired of the Republic on account of the extravagant aim of State sovereignty which then prevailed."

Cardinal Gibbons Sees Country Safe

On 86th Birthday He Has No Fear For The Future Of America

Westminster, Md., July 23.—Cardinal Gibbons spent his eighty-sixth birthday quietly today with Bishop Daniel J. O'Connell of Richmond, Va.; Bishop Costigan, the Cardinal's auxiliary at Baltimore, and members of the Shriver family, whose guests the prelates are at the old homestead on the hills of Carroll County.

The Cardinal received congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the Catholic world, but they were not made public. In a talk with a correspondent, the Cardinal spoke of the recognized conditions of unrest prevailing throughout the country and of the great problems, social, political and economic, agitating the minds of the people. His utterances were vigorous and forceful. He declared he had no apprehension for the future of the country, trusting to past experience and the province of God.

Discussing the duties devolving upon the citizen the Cardinal said: "The temporal salvation of the American people and the endurance of our Government in every emergency lie in the faithful observance of the Constitution and laws of the country as long as they remain on the statute books. When the citizens of the United States find from experience these laws to be vicious or impractical, they will not hesitate to modify or repeal them, because the people are not made for the laws, but the laws are made for the people."

Discussing unrest and economic conditions, the Cardinal said: "When a great crisis occurs in the country, it is calculated to shake the Government and excite popular fear, I take heart by recalling the many upheavals through which the country has triumphantly passed and the storms she has weathered from the framing of the Constitution to the present hours. History abounds

WOMEN HURT BY HARDING'S STAND

Militants Say They Will 'Keep After Him For Definite Action On Suffrage'

WARN SENATOR OF PLAQUE

They Liken Republican Apathy About 36th State To Pharaoh Freeing The Israelites

Marion, Ohio, July 22.—Disappointed with Senator Harding's attitude toward suffrage as expressed in his speech of acceptance of the nomination from the National Woman's Party that called on the Republican nominee this morning announced tonight that they will continue to demand action from the Senator, instead of "an earnest desire" for ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment.

The women came to Marion today in the endeavor to persuade Senator Harding to make positive assurance that he would use his influence to have a caucus of the Republican members of the Tennessee State Legislature called to declare favorably for the ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment.

The women said tonight that they would follow Senator Harding wherever he went, should he stand on his front porch campaign to make speeches in other cities. Asked whether picketing would be indulged in, one member of the delegation replied:

"That remains to be seen. For the present we will merely keep after Senator Harding without resorting to picketing."

The following statement was given out tonight by Miss Alice Paul, Chairman of the National Woman's Party:

"Suffragists can feel only dissatisfaction with Senator Harding's refusal today in his reply to the Woman's Party delegation, and in his acceptance speech, to take a positive stand for the carrying out of the suffrage plank in the Republican platform."

"The suffrage plank is the only one in the platform which Senator Harding and his party have the power to carry out without waiting until elected to national office, because of the fact that their party is already in control in several Legislatures which have not yet acted on suffrage. If Senator Harding refuses to live up to the suffrage plank, and contents himself merely with 'earnestly hoping' and 'sincerely desiring,' how can he expect the country to take seriously the other planks in his platform?"

"The National Woman's Party will continue to demand that Senator Harding carry out his platform by securing a unanimous vote in support of ratification from the Republican delegation in the Tennessee Legislature when it meets next month. If Senator Harding will use his full power, as a leader of his party, in behalf of the enfranchisement of women, he can secure such a Republican vote in favor of ratification in Tennessee. Only by action and not by the expression of polite interest will women be satisfied."

100 WOMEN IN DELEGATION

More than 100 women, representing fifteen different States, under the leadership of the National Woman's Party, were in the delegation which called on Senator Harding this morning.

The Senator assured the women that he would announce his position in his speech of acceptance, and the delegation left with the announcement that a statement would be given out after the notification ceremonies as to whether they would picket the Harding home.

Mrs. O. H. Havemeyer of New York, head of the Woman's Land Army, told Senator Harding: "We need a thirty-sixth State, and it seems as if it is as impossible for us to attain it as it was for the children of Israel to enter the Promised Land. We know Moses was slow, but when it comes to suffrage I believe he would have had to give the Republican Party time allowance. I have often wondered what would have happened if there had been picketers in Egypt. We know Pharaoh was visited by every plague under the sun, but history doesn't relate whether picketers were among them."

"True, the Republican Party has given us more States than the Democratic Party, but they had more States to draw upon, and I recommend your informing yourselves as to the number of Democrats who voted in those Republican States. Also they had twenty-five years in full control, and could have given us the franchise at any time, but they forgot all about it. This has been a seventy-year struggle between the men and women of this great country. Isn't it time to end the struggle? Is it fair that a woman should make the flag and only the men should wave it?"

ELEVEN NEW ENGLAND BOYS PICKED BY BOARD TO GO TO ANTWERP FOR OLYMPIC GAMES ON AMERICAN TEAM

Bantamweight Boxer From South Boston Has Distinction Of Being Only Boston Man On Boxing Team—Selections Made For Various Events Are Listed

Boston, Aug. 19.—Fred Fuller, Jake Driscoll, Jimmy Connolly, Walter Whalen, Billy Hayes, George Goodwin, Horace H. Brown, Bob Harwood, George Dandrow and Bob LeGendre are the New England lads who will wear the American shield next month at Antwerp, in track and field competition against the world, while Steve Gustin, the little bantamweight boxer from South Boston, has the unique distinction of being the only Boston representative chosen for the Olympic boxing team, according to the announcement of the selection committee of the American Olympic body yesterday.

After a session at the B. A. A., which began at 7 o'clock Saturday evening and lasted till 8 o'clock yesterday morning, during which the names and ability of every athlete of note were carefully weighed and discussed, and the financial situation measured, the committee named 109 track and field performers and 23 boxers to make the trip.

All the fortunate athletes are expected to go to Fort Slocum, N. Y., as soon as proper arrangements can be made, although it is possible a later consideration by President Gustavus Kirby of the Olympic committee, will permit the local lads to remain in Boston, and train under the direction of George V. Brown of the B. A. A., who is assistant team manager.

The plan of allowing the boys to stay at home until sailing time, which will be July 26 or 27, arises from the crowded conditions that may exist at the New York port. All athletes on the team coming from any distance will go at once to New York and begin working on Travers Island track until their departure.

While there are some surprises and disappointments in the selections, for the most part, the list runs as prescribed. Athletes like Billy Meaney of the B. A. A. and Ned Gourdin of Harvard might easily have been included, as they have shown conclusively all year that they are valuable. Gourdin especially would fit as a broad jumper.

NEEDS $50,000 MORE

The list follows the order of selection so that the man named first, is considered the best of the group and so on down the section. For the most part, six men were named in each event, although but four will be permitted to compete. In some cases a man has been named for two and three events. This was done to save expense.

It is not anticipated that the team will be reduced in numbers before sailing time, but if any emergency arises, Guy Kirby, Fred Ruben and Willis Booth, president, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Olympic body, have been empowered to make whatever changes are deemed advisable. About $125,000 of the required $175,000 has been raised, with a number of cities still to make reports.

Fred Fuller, the talented Dorchester club distance runner, is named No. 1 in the 10,000-meter race, and No. 3 in the cross-country race. Without question, if there is sufficient time between events, he will contest in both. Jake Driscoll is named fifth in the 400-meter race, which might indicate he is not likely to run, but the understanding is that if a man shows improvement over those selected before him, between now and the Antwerp contests, he gets the honor. As for Driscoll, he has proved his ability and stands an excellent chance of competing.

CONNOLLY IN FOURTH CHOICE
Jimmy Connolly, the Woburn lad, is fourth choice in the 1,500-meter run, while George Goodwin, a Wakefield boy, is one of the substitutes. Both these lads are faster under the mile than at the actual distance, and should show to advantage in this Olympic event.

Walter Whalen is number four in the high jumping contest, and now that the worry of making the team is over, he can be expected to better even great John Murphy. Walter has been over 6 ft. 5 in. in practice a number of times this spring, yet his final jump, 6 ft. 3 1/2 in. in the contest to break the tie for fourth place in Saturday's games was his best in competition this year.

Billy Hayes is the sixth selection in the 100 meter race and fifth in the 200-meter jump. His running Saturday was far below the preliminary performance, when he made Paddock stride to, almost a dead heat in a 10-second century. Billy has plenty of ability, and undoubtedly will be better than a substitute when the games are staged.

Horace H. Brown, the light haired Williams captain, who rushed off with the 500 meter run, is down for several tough assignments "over there." He is first choice in the 5,000 meter race, seventh in the cross-country race, which has six starters, rather than the uniform four, and is second choice for the 3,000 meter relay team. He will do well, for he has the proper disposition.

HARWOOD HAS COURAGE
Bob Harwood pushed himself up 12 ft. 6 in. in Saturday's pole vault, higher than he ever has reached in competition, and now he is a member of the American team, fifth choice in the vault. Being one of those courageous lads, who always keeps trying, he may surprise even himself before the boat gets back.

George Dandrow did considerably more than he anticipated when he worked into fifth place in the hammer-throwing list, and to the same number in the 56-pound weight class. The big Tech boy threw the hammer to a junior championship at 161 ft. 3 in. Friday, and if he had been able to repeat this toss in the senior contest he would have made third place to the New York policemen.

LAWN BOWLERS HAVE BIG DAY ON SATURDAY

Singles Championship Down For Decision At Hong-kew Park

(BY "SKIP")

All roads should lead to Hong-kew Park tomorrow afternoon where the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Championship Final will be played, weather permitting. The match is creating a lot of interest as it should do, considering it decides who shall be the Champion Lawn Bowls player for the year.

Besides the honor and distinction, a nice large silver cup goes to the winner and the runner-up gets a memento to remind him how he lost the Championship. Both players are on top of their form just now and it looks like being a grand tussle.

"Guy" is the older player of the two and has been knocking about the bowling greens of Shanghai for quite a considerable number of years and with his experience should give an exceedingly good account of himself. On the other hand Dunlop (the popular Hon. Secretary of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association) is a very brilliant player, particularly at first end and rarely fails to have at least one "dead on." He will take a lot of shifting.

It is worth while glancing over the two players' performances in this competition. G. Manwaring beat J. T. Disselhoff, T. Harborne, M. B. Anderson, H. S. Smyth and S. Marks whilst G. Dunlop accounted for W. D. McCallum, J. Gordon, G. L. Campbell, C. Richards (scratched owing to absence) and G. Bloom. It will be readily seen that both men have had a rough time before reaching their present stage, and I should not like to attempt to name the winner. The match is scheduled for 4 p.m.

INTER-CLUB MATCHES

On Sunday two club games are down for decision, the Yangtze-poo Bowling Club being at home to the Junior Golf Club and the Lawn Bowls Club visiting the Recreation Club. Both matches are four rink affairs and called for at 4 p.m. The teams representing the Reas v. L. B. C. match are:

Our Grecian Heritage

Modern Heroes Of The Diamond Compared With Olympic Victors

Now is the season when the Greek influence upon art, drama and literature seems a pallid matter to the schoolboy, who is attacked with the fever of baseball and is a living encyclopedia regarding the professional attainments of the demon swat king—namely, Babe Ruth. But if there is one heritage from the Greeks America may claim to have appropriated fully it is the Greek love of sport. Nor is baseball inferior to the athletics of classic Greece, according to a communication to the National Geographic Society by J. R. Hildebrand, who says:

"Some historians assert that the Greek games formed the foundation for the lucid thinking and the lofty art concepts that made her product classic. Yet the Olympian and the Pythian games at their best afforded no such spontaneous yet intricate interplay of muscle and mind as baseball."

"Baseball needs no advocate. A game which holds away among a highly civilized people is its own defense. Still it is interesting to compare baseball with the Greek games in two points wherein baseball is criticised."

"Some hold that professional players today reap rich rewards in comparison with the earldom of wild olive, often thought to have been the sole prize of an Hellenic champion. Others argue that professional baseball affords exercise for eighteen paid players, and mere amusement for thousands of inactive spectators in the grand stand."

"The first objection is based on a misconception, if hope of reward robs baseball of its sporting merit, the Greek's festivals also must lose prestige. An Olympic winner's wreath was only his service badge. He was banquipped for weeks, taken back to his native city in a chariot, and sometimes the walls were torn down for his triumphal entry. Usually he lived thereafter at public expense. He was showered with costly gifts by friends. Cicero complained that a Greek champion was more honored than a Roman general."

"While the competitor got no share of the gate receipts in the ancient world series, his 'home town' was bound to heap fortune upon him, in addition to the tributes of admirers. His fame was good municipal advertising at a time when billboards did not mar the landscapes. Athens regarded an Olympian victor worth a standing reward of 500 drachmas, and free rations for the rest of his life."

"The reason for these material rewards is not far to seek. A Greek could no more train ten months to compete in the games, and continue his normal pursuits, than can a modern baseball player."

"The second objection, that of too few participants, applies only to the professional game, whereas baseball still would merit claim to being a national pastime since

Shanghai Rifle Association

Intending competitors for the Shanghai British Rifle Championship are reminded that entries will close on Friday, 27th instant at 5 p.m. Entrance fee is $3.00.

Up to yesterday only 17 entries had been received. Owing to the small number of entries the Committee have decided to make the following alterations for the qualification for the second and final stages.

Second Stage (300 and 600 yards)—Open only to 24 competitors completing the first stage who make the highest aggregates in that stage.

Third and Final Stage (900 and 1,000 yards)—Open only to 12 competitors completing the second stage who make the highest aggregates in those two stages combined.

This annual competition was inaugurated in 1913 and following are the records of previous winners of the Gold Cross.

1913—F. G. Payne	310
1915—S. A. Ranson (record)	319
1916—J. R. Main	318
1917—W. T. Ross	318
1918—A. M. Collico	309

Cricket In England

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 17.—The public interest in cricket has undoubtedly revived, as the enormous crowds at the Oval to watch the Surrey v. Kent match testify. The spectators stood ten deep, beyond the appointed limits each day and there were queues of from 200 to 300 before the opening of the gates. It must be admitted that the weather was brilliant, and that the fact that both Counties are hot in the running for the Championship contributed additional excitement to the match. Surrey won by three wickets.

Other results were:

Somerset beat Hampshire by 180 runs.

Lancashire beat Warwickshire by an innings and 38 runs.

Gloucestershire beat Leicestershire by 30 runs.

Essex beat Derbyshire by 104 runs.

Sussex beat Northamptonshire by ten wickets.

Middlesex beat Yorkshire by four runs.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST WILL BEGIN ON SHANGHAI DIAMOND NEXT SATURDAY, ANNOUNCEMENT

Tientsin Players Arrive To Take On Regulars And Team Representing Sailors On American Warship Albany

By Viola Verclair

Three of the fastest teams of baseball players in the Far East are to meet for the Championship of the Orient when a series of games is to be started here on Saturday, between the clubs representing Shanghai, the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry, stationed at Tientsin, and the sailors from the American warship Albany.

Interest in the series has reached fever heat, opinion being divided as to whether the all-conquering Shanghai Regulars will prove invincible before the visitors even when meeting them on the home grounds and an excellent attendance is promised.

The 15th Infantry base ball team arrived in Shanghai last night, and will make their headquarters at the Astor House Hotel. There are fifteen men in the party, of which six are officers.

The Race Course diamond will be at their disposal today, the last day before the opening of the big series.

The U.S.S. Albany team is on hand, some of the men being on the field at last night's practice, and since acquiring the services of Merrill and Pruitt they look to be a good strong team.

The Shanghai tossers had another workout last night and all appear to be in good trim for the coming battle.

Pitchers Tinkham and Terry were out warming up their arms and both look to be in good condition.

A great amount of interest is being shown in the coming series, which is for the championship of China, and a number of the most ardent base ball followers are placing bets on their favorites. It begins to look as if some money is going to change hands before this time next week.

TO NATIONALISE PALESTINE LAND

Zionist Conference Adopts Proposal To Declare It Preperty Of Jewish People

London, July 19.—The Zionist Conference here adopted today the recommendation of the Commission of Forty on the Palestine property ownership question providing that all the land in Palestine be declared the property of the Jewish people, and that the control of this property be gradually assumed by the Palestine State.

This recommendation, made in the majority report of the commission, submitted this morning, was approved amid a great uproar raised by the Socialists in the conference, who favored the minority report. The minority recommendation was that the land be declared immediately the property of the Jewish State and that private ownership and speculation be forbidden.

Adolph Bohm, an Austrian delegate, presented the majority report, which caused such a heated discussion in Yiddish that Baron de Rothschild, who presided, maintained order with difficulty. Bohm said the plan was to colonize Palestine by the settlement there of Jews without means by buying land out of the Jewish National Fund and employing Jewish labor exclusively. The settlers should place themselves unhesitatingly under control of the fund, Bohm added, and agree to eventual nationalization of the land.

The speakers on behalf of the minority report declared that the two-Zionist ideals would be lost sight of and that Palestine could never be properly developed unless there were complete nationalization.

The Socialists shouted in many languages and insisted upon a roll call, which the Chair was forced to grant after confusion lasting an hour, during which the delegates rose and waved their hats, shook their fists and overturned chairs. The roll call was frequently interrupted by heated arguments. It resulted in the Socialists being defeated by 125 to 24. The announcement of the vote revived the confusion.

Baron de Rothschild during the tumult gave up the chair to Louis Lipaky, of the American delegation, declaring that the uproar had caused him to lose his voice. Lipaky brought the house to order by permitting B. A. Rosenblatt to explain the American stand, which, with the exception of two votes, was against the Socialists.

"This action is in direct line with the Pittsburgh program and the majority report to which all the Jews of America adhere," said Mr. Lipaky.

Prohibition Has Killed the 'Parlor'

Story, Drummer Complains

New York, July 24.—One more year of prohibition and there won't be a "parlor" story in existence, predicts Robert A. Peters, traveling salesman of Chicago, who is at the Park Avenue Hotel.

"I have just completed a five months' trip throughout the West and South, and I didn't pick up one good story," said Mr. Peters.

"Prohibition is responsible. Good liquor inspires the imagination. The former barroom and cafe was the birthplace of the 'parlor' story. It got to be funny on the road. A bunch of us would cluster in the smoker, and pretty soon some one would say:

"Have you heard that one about—?" and he'd be interrupted, for we'd all have heard it months before. After the election, we drummers will be up against it—we won't have a thing to talk about."

Sold: 1,313,415 lbs. (about 586 tons).

The local auctions were postponed

till Thursday and Friday

this week, Monday being a holiday.

General interest was manifest at the opening of the sales, and prices rose gradually. A number of speculators stepped into the market on account of better

advices from London, and bidding became rather excited at times.

News from the various consuming markets was somewhat conflicting,

however, and caused prices to fluctuate considerably during the sales.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet

realized between 63 and 64 1/2 cents, a few lots changing hands at 65, showing an advance of one cent on the week. There was a better demand for F.A.Q. Sheet, but prices were kept under on account of the large quantity on offer.

First Latex Crepe, which was on offer in larger quantities than last week, sold up to 73 cents, showing an advance of 1 1/2 cents on the week.

Thin Clean Brown Crepe was again scarce, and found a number of buyers at last week's prices.

Good Brown Crepe sold fairly well, and Dark and Barky Crepes were at about last week's level.

At the continuation this morning,

opinion as to the market tendency seemed to be very divided, but buyers could still be found at yesterday's prices.

WEATHER

The depression coming from the Goto will raise rough weather at the Saddle and the mouth of the Yangtze.

The southern typhoon will continue to advance towards the Eastern Sea where it may make its junction with the depression. The typhoon from the Marianas will pass on Eastern Bonin. Increasing squalls and showers at Shanghai.

Gen. Washington And Gen. Wu Pei-fu

BY HON. T. R. JERNIGAN

WHEN the Manchurian dynasty was dethroned and China declared to be a Republic the conclusion was reasonable that a liberal form of Government would be inaugurated. It was supposed that the leaders of the revolution would be supported by a public opinion that would enable them to put such a form of government in practical operation, but nine years have gone, since the Republic was declared, and China is in as uncertain and disorderly a condition as at any period of her history. Instead of an organic law defining the extent and limitation of the power of a government there is functioning at Peking a clique of military Tschuns outlawing and proscribing their countrymen by mandates in utter disregard of the process of law or any other legal principle which should protect the citizen in his personal and property right.

It would be difficult to date a year when China was so badly governed as now and when loyalty was more of a stranger in the Capital. The Empress Dowager proved that she had greater respect for law and more capacity for government than any or all of the military clique ruling at Peking. Under her rule there was generally order in the country and borrowing of money and the mortgaging of China never disgraced her administration. The first comparison here instituted ought to create a public sentiment which would make easy the establishment of a liberal government in China founded on the consent of the people and administered in their interest.

And now when General Wu Pei-fu, appreciating the dangerous drift of China, marches on Peking, at the head of his own trained soldiers, defeats the usurpers on their chosen field, ends the existence of that borrowing institution known as the Anfu Club, and then declares in favor of a Representative Assembly of his countrymen to frame a permanent Constitution under which they are to live and know their rights, he again opens the way for Chinese to be free, and, if they fall in rising to the opportunity, to go on living as the slaves of intriguers and spoilers. It is no time to be waiting within the limits of a foreign settlement as it to watch the turn of the political tide. The day has passed when Chinese can be content to draw salaries as members of parliaments of doubtful capacity and that never enacted a good law. No patriotic Chinese wants to hear any more discourses on the sovereignty of China until there is a sovereignty that commands their pride and loyal support. There is no government founded on constitutional principles and such as is functioning as a government is selling that sovereignty for money.

The plan proposed by General Wu is simple and plain, and the argument that the Chinese are not prepared for it, because they have never been educated to know the meaning of representative government, is the argument always used by those who oppose free government. When Washington advised Americans to convoke a representative assembly to frame a permanent constitution there was the same argument on the part of some of his countrymen as is now being used to combat the advice of General Wu.

The striking similarity in the plan proposed by Washington and the plan proposed by Wu is made clear by a simple statement of the facts bearing on each plan.

America was divided into states while China is divided into provinces, though the analogy in the present condition is practically the same. The assembly that framed the American Constitution was constituted as follows: The people of each State selected a certain number of its citizens who were thought to be best qualified and directed them to meet the citizens of the other states so selected, and upon meeting they were to organize as an Assembly for the purpose of preparing a permanent constitution for the United States of America. The citizens there selected by the several states were referred to as delegates and the Assembly thus organized was named the Constitutional Assembly or the Constitutional Convention.

After several months of deliberation the delegates framed the Constitution under which the American people live. But the framing of the constitution did not mean that it was to be effective without further consideration, for after it was framed it was submitted to the people of the different states for their approval, and it was not to be the constitution until duly approved, as was provided in the instrument. It was duly approved and thereby became the organic law of the United States, the foundation of the American Government, without which there would be no such a government.

It will be seen that Washington's plan was very simple and so is Wu's plan. The latter plan proposes that each province of China shall select a certain number of its best qualified citizens to meet and organize into an assembly for the purpose of framing a permanent constitution for China. After the framing of the constitution it is not known if Wu's plan provides for submitting it to the people of the different provinces for approval, though it is presumed there will be a provision requiring submission.

There is nothing complicated in the plan which General Wu has worked out in order that his countrymen shall determine the nature of China's organic law. If a constitution is prepared and framed as indicated it will be the act and choice of the people and supreme in every sense to any act of a parliament, a mere legislative branch of a government which the people in their sovereign capacity can create or dissolve. If the sovereignty of China is to be protected the people must prove that they have the patriotism and will to protect it. There is no sense for those in authority to talk about the people having no capacity for government at the very time they are exhibiting an ignorance that would be laughable if it was not ruinous to their country. What have they ever done to prove their capacity for government?

Let us return for a moment to the necessity for understanding, particularly that understanding which concerns ourselves at home.

I decline to recognize any conflict of interest among the participants in industry. The destruction of one is the ruin of the other, the suspicion or rebellion of one unavoidably involves the other. In conflict is disaster, in understanding there is triumph. There is no issue relating to the foundation on which industry is built, because industry is bigger than any element in its modern making. But the insistent call is for labor, management and capital to reach understanding.

The human element comes first and I want the employers in industry to understand the aspirations, the convictions, the yearnings of the millions of American wage earners and I want the wage earners to understand the problems, the anxieties, the obligations of management and capital, and all of them must understand their relationship to the people and their obligation to the Republic. Out of this understanding will come the unanimous commitment to economic justice, and in economic justice lies that social justice which is the highest essential to human happiness.

I am speaking as one who has counted the contents of the pay envelope from the viewpoint of the earner as well as the employer. No one pretends to deny the inequalities which are manifest in modern industrial life. They are less in fact than they were before organization and grouping on either side revealed the inequalities, and conscience has wrought more justice than statutes have compelled, but the ferment of the world rivets our thoughts on the necessity of progressive solution, else our generation will suffer the experiment which means chaos for our day to re-establish God's plan for the great tomorrow.

Speaking our sympathies, uttering the conscience of all the people, mindful of our right to dwell amid the good fortunes of rational, conscience-impelled advancement, we hold the majesty of righteous government with liberty under the law to be our avoidance of chaos and we call upon every citizen of the Republic to hold fast to that which made us what we are, and we will have orderly government safeguard the onward march to all we ought to be.

The menacing tendency of the present day is not chargeable wholly to the unsettled and fevered conditions caused by the war. The manifest weakness in popular government lies in the temptation to appeal to grouped citizenship for the political advantage. There is no greater peril. The "Constitution" contemplates no class and recognizes no group. It broadly includes all the people, with specific recognition for none, and the highest consecration we can make today is a commitment of the Republican Party to that saving constitutionalism which contemplates all America as one people and holds just government free from influence on the one hand and unmoved by intimidation on the other.

FREE SPEECH It would be the blindness of folly to ignore the activities in our own country which are aimed to destroy our economic system, and to commit us to the colossal tragedy which has both destroyed all freedom and made Russia impotent. This movement is not to be halted in throttled liberties. We must not abridge the freedom of speech, the freedom of press, or the freedom of assembly, because there is no promise in repression. These liberties are as sacred as the freedom of religious belief, as inviolable as the rights of life and the pursuit of happiness.

We do hold to the right to crush addition, to stifle a menacing contempt for law, to stamp out a peril to the safety of the Republic or its people when emergency calls, because security and the majesty of the law are the first essentials of liberty. He who threatens destruction of the Government by force or flouts its contempt for lawful authority, ceases to be a loyal citizen and forfeits his rights to the freedom of the Republic.

Let it be said to all of America that our plan of popular government contemplates such orderly changes as the crystallized intelligence of the majority of our people think best. There can be no modification of this underlying rule, but no majority shall abridge the rights of a minority.

Men have a right to question our system in fullest freedom, but they must always remember that the rights of freedom impose the obligations which maintain it. Our policy is not of repression, but we make appeal today to American intelligence and patriotism when the Republic is menaced from within, just as we trusted American patriotism when our rights were threatened from without.

We call on all America for understanding, so that we may proceed deliberately to the readjustment which concerns all the people. Our party platform fairly expresses the conscience of Republicanism on industrial relations. No party is indifferent to the welfare of the wage earner. To us his good fortune is of deepest concern, and we seek to make that good fortune permanent.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING We do not oppose but approve collective bargaining, because that is an outstanding right, but we are unalterably insistent that its exercise must not destroy the equally sacred right of the individual in his necessary pursuit of livelihood. Any American has the right to quit his employment, so has every American the right to seek employment. The group must not endanger the individual, and we must discourage groups preying upon one another, and none shall be allowed to forget that Government's obligations are alike to all the people.

I hope we may do more than merely discourage the losses and sufferings attending industrial conflict. The strike against the Government is properly denied, for Government service involves none of the elements of profit which relate to competitive enterprise. There is progress in the establishment of official revelation of issues and conditions which lead to conflict, so that unerring public sentiment may speed the adjustment, but I hope for that concord of purpose, not forced, but inspired by the common weal which will give a regulated public service the fullest guarantee of continuity.

I am thinking of the railroads. In modern life they are the very base of all our activities and inequalities. For public protection we have enacted laws providing for a regulation of the charge for service, a limitation on the capital invested and a limitation on capital's earnings. There remains only competition of service on which to base our hopes for an efficiency and expansion which meet our modern requirements.

The railway workmen ought to be the best paid and know the best working conditions in the world. There is an exceptional responsibility. They are not only essential to the life and health and all productive activities of the people, but they are directly responsible for the safety of traveling millions. The Government which has assumed so much authority for the public good might well stamp railway employment with the sanctity of public service and guarantee to the railway employees that justice which voices the American conception of righteousness on the one hand and assure continuity of service on the other.

The importance of the railway rehabilitation is so obvious that reference seems uncalled for. We are so confident that much of the present-day inefficiency and ineffectiveness of transportation are due to the withering hand of Government operation that we emphasize anew our opposition to Government ownership, we want to expedite the reparation and make sure the mistake is not repeated.

TO AID RAILROADS' RECOVER It is little use to recite the story of development, exploitation, Government experiment, and its neglect, Government operation and its failures. The inadequacy of trackage and terminal facilities, the insufficiency of equipment and the inefficiency of operation—all bear the blighting stamp of Governmental incapacity during Federal operation.

The work of rehabilitation under the restoration of private ownership deserves our best encouragement. Billions are needed in new equipment, not alone to meet the growing demand for service, but to restore the extraordinary depreciation due to the strained service of war. With restricted earnings and with speculative profits removed, railway activities have come to the realm of conservative and constructive service, and the Government which impaired must play its part in restoration. Manifestly necessary capital may be enlisted and we must foster as well as restrain.

We have no more pressing problem. A state of inadequate transportation facilities, mainly chargeable to failure of Governmental experiment, is losing millions to agriculture, it is hindering industry, it is menacing the American people with a fuel shortage little less than a peril. It emphasizes the present-day problem and suggests that spirit of encouragement and assistance which commits all America to relieve such an emergency.

The one compensation amid attending anxieties is our new and needed realization of the vital part transportation plays in the complexities of modern life. We are not to think of rails alone, but highways from farm to market, from railway to farm, arteries of life blood to present-day life, the quickened ways to communication and exchange, the answer of our people to the motor age. We believe in generous Federal co-operation in construction, linked with assurances of maintenance that will put an end to criminal waste of public funds on the one hand and give a guarantee of up-kept highways on the other.

Water transportation is inseparably linked with adequacy of facilities, and we favor American eminence on the seas, the practical development of inland waterways, the up-building and co-ordination of all to make them equal to aid ready for every call of developing and widening American commerce. I like that recommitment to thoughts of America first which pledges the Panama Canal, an American creation, to the free use of American shipping. It will add to the American reawakening.

COST OF LIVING PROBLEM One cannot speak of industry and commerce, and the transportation on which they are dependent, without an earnest thought of the abnormal cost of living and the problems in its wake. It is easy to inveigh, but that avails nothing. And it is far too serious to dismiss with flaring but futile promise.

Eight years ago, in times of peace, the Democratic Party made it an issue, and when clothed with power that party came near to its accomplishment by destroying the people's capacity to buy. But that was a cure worse than the ailment. It is easy to understand the real causes, after which the patient must help to effect his own cure.

Gross expansion of currency and credit have depreciated the dollar just as expansion and inflation have discredited the coins of the world. We inflated in haste, we must deflate in deliberation. We debased the dollar in reckless finance, we must restore in honesty. Deflation on the one hand and restoration of the 100-cent dollar on the other ought to have begun on the day after the armistice, but plans were lacking or courage failed. The unpreparedness for peace was little less costly than unpreparedness for war.

We can promise no one remedy which will cure an ill of such wide proportions, but we do pledge that earnest and consistent attack which the party platform covenants. We will attempt intelligent and courageous deflation, and strike at Government borrowing which enlarges the evil and we will attack high cost of Government with every energy and facility which attend Republican capacity. We promise that relief which will attend the halting of waste and extravagance, and the renewal of the practice of public economy, not alone because it will relieve tax burdens but because it will be an example to stimulate thrift and economy in private life.

CALLS FOR THRIFT I have already alluded to the necessity for the fullness of production, and we need the fullness of service which attends the exchange of products. Let us speak the irrefutable truth, high wages and reduced cost of living are in utter contradiction unless we have the height of efficiency for wages received.

In all sincerity we promise the prevention of unreasonable profits, we challenge profiteering with all the moral force and the legal powers of Government and people, but it is fair, aye, it is timely, to give reminder that law is not the sole corrective of our economic ills.

Let us call to all the people for thrift and economy, for denial and sacrifice if need be, for a nationwide drive against extravagance and luxury, to a recommitment to simplicity of living, to that prudent and normal plan of life which is the health of the Republic. There hasn't been a recovery from the waste and abnormalities of war since story of mankind was first written, except through work and saving, through industry and denial, while needless spending and heedless extravagance have marked every decay in the history of nations. Give the assurance of that rugged simplicity of American life which marked the first century of amazing development and this generation may underwrite a second century of surpassing accomplishment.

The Republican Party was founded by farmers, with the sensitive conscience born of their freedom and their simple lives. These founders sprang from the farms of the then Middle West. Our party has never failed in its realization that agriculture is essentially the foundation of our very existence, and it has ever been our policy, purpose and performance to protect and promote that essential industry.

BIG QUESTION FOR FARMERS New conditions, which attend amazing growth and extraordinary industrial development, call for a new and forward-looking program. The American farmer had a hundred and twenty millions to feed in the home market, and heard the cry of the world for food and answered it, though he faced an appalling task amid handicaps never encountered before.

In the rise of price levels there have come increased upsurges to his acres without adding to their value in fact, but which do add to his taxes and expenses without enhancing his returns. His helpers have yielded to the lure of shop and city until, almost alone, he has met and borne the burden of the only insistent attempts to force down prices. It challenges both the wisdom and the justice of artificial drives on prices to recall that they were effective almost solely against his products in the hands of the producer and never effective against the same products in passing to the consumer.

Contemplating the defenselessness of the individual farmer to meet the organized buyers of his products and the distributors of the things the farmer buys, I hold that farmers should not only be permitted but encouraged to join in co-operative association to reap the just measure of reward merited by their arduous toil. Let us facilitate co-operation to insure against the risks attending agriculture, which the urban world so little understands, and a like co-operation to market their products as directly as possible with the consumer in the interests of all. Upon such association and co-operation should be laid only such restrictions as will prevent arbitrary control of our food supply and the fixing of extortionate prices upon it.

ENCOURAGE AGRICULTURE

Our platform is an earnest pledge of renewed concern for this most essential and elemental industry and in both appreciation and interest we pledge effective expression in law and practice. We will hail that co-operation which again will make profitable and desirable the ownership and operation of comparatively small farms intensively cultivated and which will facilitate the caring for the products of farm and orchard without the lamentable waste under present conditions.

America would look with anxiety on the discouragement of farming activity either through the Government's neglect or its paralysis by socialist practices. A Republican Administration will be committed to renewed regard for agriculture, and seek the participation of farmers in curing the ills justly complained of, and aim to place the American farm where it ought to be—highly ranked in American activities and fully sharing the highest good fortunes of American life.

Becoming associated with this subject are the policies of irrigation and reclamation, so essential to agricultural expansion and the continued development of the great and wonderful West. It is our purpose to continue and enlarge Federal aid, not in sectional partiality, but for the good of all America. We hold to that harmony of relationship between conservation and development which fittingly appraises our natural resources and makes them available to developing the America of today and still holds to the conserving thought for the America of the morrow.

The Federal Government's relation to reclamation and development is too important to admit of ample discussion today. Alaska, alone, is rich in resources beyond all imagination and needs only closer linking through the lines of transportation and a Governmental policy that both safeguards and encourages development to speed it to a foremost position as a commonwealth rugged in citizenship and rich in material resources.

TENETS OF HIS BELIEF

These things I can only mention. Within becoming limits one cannot say more. Indeed, for the present many questions of vast importance must be hastily passed, reserving a fuller discussion to suitable occasion as the campaign advances.

I believe the budget system will effect a necessary, helpful reformation and reveal business methods to Government business. I believe Federal departments should be made more businesslike and send back to productive effort thousands of Federal employees who are either duplicating work or not essential at all.

I believe in the protective tariff policy and know we will be calling for its saving Americanism again.

I believe in a great merchant marine—I would have this Republic the leading maritime nation of the world.

I believe in a navy ample to protect it and able to assure us dependable defense.

I believe in a small army, but the best in the world, with a mindfulness for preparedness which will avoid the unutterable cost of our previous neglect.

I believe in our eminence in trade abroad, which the Government should aid in expanding, both in revealing markets and speeding cargoes.

I believe in establishing standards for immigration which are concerned with the future citizenship of the Republic, not with mere man power in industry.

I believe that every man who dons the garb of American citizenship and walks in the light of American opportunity must become American in heart and soul.

I believe in holding fast to every forward step in unshackling child labor and elevating conditions of woman's employment.

I believe the Federal Government should stamp out lynching and remove that stain from the fair name of America.

I believe the Federal Government should give its effective aid in solving the problem of ample and becoming housing of its citizenship.

I believe this Government should make its Liberty and Victory bonds worth all that its patriotic citizens paid in purchasing them.

I believe the tax burdens imposed for the war emergency must be revised to the needs of peace, and in the interest of equity in distribution of the burden.

I believe the negro citizens of America should be guaranteed the enjoyment of all their rights, that they have earned the full measure of citizenship bestowed, that their sacrifices in blood on the battlefields of the Republic have entitled them to all of freedom and opportunity, all of sympathy and aid that the American spirit of fairness and justice demands.

OUR POLICY TOWARD MEXICO

I believe there is an easy and open path to righteous relationship with Mexico. It has seemed to me that our undeveloped, uncertain and infirm policy has made us a culpable party to the Governmental misfortunes in that land. Our relations ought to be both friendly and sympathetic we would like to acclaim a stable Government there, and offer a neighborly hand in pointing the way to greater progress.

It will be simple to have a plain and neighborly understanding, merely an understanding, about respecting our borders, about protecting the lives and possessions of American citizens lawfully within the Mexican dominions. There must be that understanding, else there can be no recognition, and then the understanding must be faithfully kept.

Many of these declarations deserve a fuller expression, with some suggestions of plans to emphasize the faith. Such expression will follow in due time, I promise you.

I believe in law enforcement. If elected I mean to be a constitutional President, and it is impossible to ignore the Constitution, unthinkable to evade the law when our every commitment is to orderly government. People ever will differ about the wisdom of the enactment of a law—there is divided opinion respecting the Eighteenth Amendment and the laws enacted to make it operative—but there can be no difference of opinion about honest law enforcement.

Neither Government nor party can afford to cheat the American people. The laws of Congress must harmonize with the Constitution, else they soon are adjudged to be void; Congress enacts the laws and the executive branch of the Government is charged with enforcement. We cannot nullify because of divided opinion, we cannot jeopardize orderly government with contempt for law enforcement. Modification or repeal is the right of a free people, whenever the deliberate and intelligent public sentiment commands, but perversion and evasion mark the paths to the failure of government itself.

WOMEN'S SERVICE

Though not in any partisan sense, I must speak of the services of the men and women who rallied to the colors of the Republic in the World War, America realizes and appreciates the service rendered, the sacrifices made and the sufferings endured. There shall be no distinction between those who knew the perils and glories of the battlefield or the dangers of the sea, and those who were compelled to serve behind the lines, or those who constituted the great reserve of a grand army which awaited the call in camp at home.

All were brave, all were sacrificing, all were sharers of those deeds which sent our boys thrice-armed to war. Worthy sons and daughters these, fit successors to those who christened our banners in the immortal beginning, worthy sons of those who saved the Union and nationality when civil war wiped the ambiguity from the Constitution, ready sons of those who drew the sword for humanity's sake the first time in the world in 1898.

The four million defenders of land and sea were worthy of the best traditions of a people never warlike in peace and never pacifist in war. They commanded our pride, they have our gratitude, which must have genuine expression. It is not only a duty, it is a privilege, to see that the sacrifices made shall be requited and that these still sufferings shall be abundantly aided and restored to the highest capabilities of citizenship and its enjoyment.

The womanhood of America, always its glory, its inspiration and the potent, uplifting force in its social and spiritual development, is about to be enfranchised. In so far as Congress can go, the fact is already accomplished. By party edict, by my recorded vote, by personal conviction, I am committed to this measure of justice. It is my earnest hope, my sincere desire that the one needed State vote be quickly recorded in the affirmation of the right of equal suffrage and that the vote of every citizen shall be cast and counted in the approaching election.

Let us not share the apprehensions of many men and women as to the danger of this momentous extension of the franchise. Women have never been without influence in our political life. Enfranchisement will bring to the polls the votes of citizens who have been born upon our soil, or who have sought in faith and assurance the freedom and opportunities of our land. It will bring the women educated in our schools, trained in our customs and habits of thought and shapers of our problems. It will bring the alert mind, the awakened conscience, the sure intuition, the abhorrence of tyranny or oppression, the wide and tender sympathy that distinguish the women of America. Surely there can be no danger there.

And to the great number of noble women who have opposed in conviction this tremendous change in the ancient relation of the sexes as applied to government, I venture to plead that they will accept the full responsibility of enlarged citizenship and give to the best in the Republic their suffrage and support.

URGES AMERICA FIRST

Much has been said of late about world ideals, but I prefer to think of the ideal for America. I like to think there is something more than the patriotism and practical wisdom of the founding fathers. It is good to believe that maybe destiny held this New World Republic to be the supreme example of representative democracy and orderly liberty by which humanity is inspired to higher achievement.

It is idle to think we have attained perfection, but there is the satisfying knowledge that we hold orderly processes for making our Government reflect the heart and mind of the Republic. Ours is not only a fortunate people, but a very common-sensical people, with vision high, but their feet on the earth, with belief in themselves and faith in God. Whether enemies threaten from without or menaces arise from within, there is some indefinable voice saying, "Have confidence in the Republic! America will go on!"

Here is a temple of liberty; no storms may shake, here are the altars of freedom; no passions shall destroy. It was American in conception, American in its building, it shall be American in the fulfillment. Sectional once, we are all American now, and we mean to be all Americans to all the world.

Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, my countrymen all: I would not be my natural self if I did not utter my consciousness of my limited ability to meet your full expectations or to realize the aspirations within my own breast, but I will gladly give all that is in me, all of heart, soul, mind and abiding love of country, to service in our common cause.

I can only pray to the Omnipotent God that I may be as worthy in service as I know myself to be faithful in thought and purpose. One cannot give more.

Mindful of the vast responsibilities, I must be frankly humble, but I have that confidence in the consideration and support of all true Americans which makes none wholly unafraid. With an unalterable faith and in a hopeful spirit, with a hymn of service in my heart, I pledge fidelity to our country and to God, and accept the nomination of the Republican Party for the Presidency of the United States.

Remains 'Hired Man' Despite His Million

David Cant, With Fortune
Awaiting Him in Scotland;
Will Not Desert Boss

Boston, July 19.—David Nicoll Cant, 37 years old and a bachelor, working for a farmer in Boylston, Mass., who has been notified that he shares in the $2,000,000 estate left by his father in Scotland, is just about the coolest and most collected individual in Boylston. All the rest of the town is so excited about David's million-dollar windfall that it can think and talk about little else.

But David has been in this country some twenty years, nine of which he has put in farming, so he is not easily excited. All Boylston looked to David to pack up and start for Scotland immediately. But David couldn't see it that way. He had hired out to Farmer Stark, and if ever his boss needed a hired man it is just now, when labor is so scarce and high priced, with one of the biggest hay crops in years waiting to be gathered.

David declares he will see his boss through the haying season, anyway, and perhaps longer. He feels sure that the fortune in Scotland will not lose anything by a little waiting. Once the crops are gathered and Mr. Stark says it is O. K., David will pack up and start for the homeland, there to meet his three sisters and two brothers.

David's father, who was a wholesale liquor dealer, died seven years ago, and from that date the family has been trying to locate David. When David left home with his chum it was to seek work in America. The chum landed a job on a farm and worked Dave in. Dave did not like the place, so drifted about, finally landing with Farmer Stark nine years ago, where he has since been working for his $30 per month and board and room.

As to matrimony, he has no definite plans. Having lived thirty-seven years without a mate he is inclined to think he can travel the rest of his journey that way, although he admits that the possession of a comfortable fortune and homeland sights and scenes may change his point of view.

Seeing Dave in his farm duds hustling in the hay, then milking the cows and doing the chores, one would never dream he could ever give it up. He goes about his work as though it was the one object in his life. He is rated so highly on the Stark farm that they have doubts of ever being able to fill his shoes.

Biggest Radio Plant Ready At Bordeaux

Begun By America And Taken Over By France—Has 12-
000-Mile Radius

Paris, July 19.—The largest and most powerful wireless station in the world has just been completed near Bordeaux. It was begun by Americans according to American plans, and was half finished at the time of the armistice. Now it has passed into the hands of the French Government and will be used to send messages half way round the world.

The antennae are carried on eight metal towers 240 meters high and cover a space a kilometer and a half long and 400 meters across. Each tower, which is supported on three legs, weighs 550 tons, a quarter of the weight of the Eiffel Tower.

This Lafayette station, as it is called, uses an alternating current of 11,000 volts, with a frequency of fifty cycles, which can develop Hertzian waves 2,300 meters long. The distance at which messages can be picked up is estimated at 20,000 kilometers—about half the circumference of the earth.
